

DAILY PLANET

ALL THE NEWS THAT FITS

Tuesday, May 16

2000

Aerospace Safety Advisory Panel visits Marshall

The Aerospace Safety Advisory Panel will visit Marshall Tuesday and Wednesday. The visit will focus on a review of Marshall's facilities and major projects, primarily on those in the Space Transportation Directorate and Space Shuttle Projects Office.

Shuttle Atlantis
set to launch
6:33 a.m. EDT
Thursday

Management seminar on negotiation,
1- 3:30 p.m.,
Tues., TV-14

Marshall taxi service curtailed Thursday and Friday

Due to numerous special transportation requirements to support the "Turning Goals into Reality" conference and the Marshall Open House events, there will be no Marshall taxi service available on Thursday or Friday.

OSHA hearing conservation training set Tuesday

Mandatory OSHA hearing conservation training will be at 9:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. Tuesday. Required to attend are Marshall employees and contractors who work in areas which may expose them to excessive noise levels; who require the use of hearing protection; and who receive a mandatory hearing exam at the Medical Center. For more information, call 544-2390.

Blue Cross/Blue
Shield rep here
9-11 a.m. Wed., Bldg.
4200, room 329